Download Microsoft Office 2019, Office 2016, Office 2013, Office 2010 and Office 365 for free with direct links.

We're bringing together all the direct links to download official, genuine copies of a range of different versions of Microsoft's Office business suite. Refrain from using unofficial links as they may be honeypots to infect you with malware.

We've rechecked all the links as of the time of publishing this update to ensure that they're fully working. However, before you proceed, bear the following points in mind:

Once trial versions expire, they will revert back to reduced functionality, essentially becoming file viewers. To get them to work again would require you to reinstall your Windows operating system – using a restore point or any similar image-based solution is unlikely to work. You will not need a product key to install the application but you will need one to activate the product. After you get a Microsoft ID, you will be able to activate the applications should you want to own the products outright with the product key card being the cheapest and usually fastest way of doing it. Some security applications might quarantine setup.exe forcing you to manually whitelist the appropriate files. In some cases the downloaded file will be an IMG format. If so, use 7-Zip or a similar archive utility to extract the files and run the relevant executable file (usually setup.exe). All the files linked are genuine and legal, direct from the developer. You will never be charged for downloading these files for backup purposes. If you have any suggestions or if you find that any of these are not working, do let us know.

So, with all that in mind, let's get on with detailing the downloads...

Office 2019.

If you're concerned about older versions of Office no longer being supported in the future and the idea of a monthly subscription to Office 365 doesn't appeal to you, then Office 2019 is your next best choice. Just like with older versions of Microsoft Office, you pay once for Office 2019 and then it's yours to keep forever.

Do note that you'll be missing out on the cloud collaboration features of OneDrive as well as the continued feature updates that Office 365 subscribers benefit from. However, you will still get critical security updates and bug fixes for Office 2019. Additionally you will only be able to install Office 2019 on one device as opposed to the five device limit included with Office 365.

Microsoft provides detailed instructions on how to download and install or reinstall Office 2019 on either PC or Mac either in 32-bit or 64-bit mode.

Office 365 and Office 2016.

When this article was first published, it was before the release of Office 2016 when you could download a preview version to try for free. Obviously post-release, that isn't the case anymore – and there's no trial version of Office 2016. Therefore if you want to try out Office for free, you'll need to dip into Office 365 (see above).

However, the below links we provided with the original article still work to download the installer for Office 2016 (this then grabs the Office 2016 setup files on-demand). Of course, be aware that obviously you will need a product key to successfully install the suite.

If Office 365 is what you're after, be aware that there is no offline installer for it. As is the case with Skype, you will get a tiny package that will then download the actual application.

Note that the trial period is only 30 days, and also a valid Microsoft account is a prerequisite for downloading the initial application. If you haven't got one, you'll need to set one up. You'll also need to provide payment info to partake of the free trial.

Microsoft provides with detailed notes on how to download and install or reinstall Office 365 or Office 2016 on a PC or Mac either in 32-bit or 64-bit mode.

You might want to read our review of Office 2016 as well as our review of Office 365.

Office 2013.

This is the RTM/final version that can be used for 30 days without any limitations (i.e. it is a trial version). The suite includes Word, Excel, PowerPoint, OneNote, Outlook, Access, Infopath, Visio viewer, Publisher and Lync. Note that the linked files below are reasonably large downloads; 667MB and 769MB respectively. (And should you wish to read it, you'll find our review of Office 2013 here).

Office for Mac 2011, Office 2010 and Office 2007.

Microsoft quietly took down all its download servers that used to house hundreds of ISO files, many of them on Digitalriver. This means that you won't be able to download offline installers legally for Office 2010, Office for Mac 2011 and Office 2007.

As such, there are no legal ways of providing a direct download route to Office 2007 – the only way you can get a download copy is by using the linked Office 2007 download URL for free and entering your product key which will then pull the qualifying Office 2007 product.

It is worth noting that Office 2007 has reached its End of Life and will no longer receive updates from Microsoft. Using an unsupported version of Office means that any security bugs or vulnerabilities found in the software will not be patched and can therefore be exploited by hackers. There are plenty of other versions of Office that are still supported by Microsoft and we highly recommend going with one of those instead of Office 2007.

For Office 2010, if you have been issued with a PIN post-purchase (on a product key card), you can download it directly from the getmicrosoftkey website.

Read our reviews of Office 2010 and Office 2007.

Office Mobile apps.

These are apps for Word, Excel and PowerPoint, along with Outlook and OneNote, all of which have been optimised for touch and mobile devices which means that you won't need a mouse and a keyboard to use them.

However, you will need to have Windows 10 installed to run them and clicking on the links below will open Store, Microsoft's equivalent of Google Play, to download the required file. You won't be able to sideload them or download them as a discrete package. Your OS will determine the type of file to download (32-bit or 64-bit or ARM).

How to reinstall Office Home and Student 2016.

Office 365 was originally installed but has been replaced with Office Home & Student 2016, but without uninstalling '365'.

When the license for '365' came up for renewal, it started interfering with Home & Student 2016. Uninstalling '365' didn't eliminate the problem since the Microsoft account it was registered to still remembers that it was once installed and refuses to let 2016 be reinstalled after uninstalling it.

What's the best way to get 2016 to reinstall without interference?

You don't need to be connected to the Internet to use Office applications, such as Word, Excel, and PowerPoint, because the applications are fully installed on your computer.

However, Internet access is required to install and activate all the latest releases of Office suites and all Microsoft 365 subscription plans. For Microsoft 365 plans, Internet access is also needed to manage your subscription account, for example to install Office on other PCs or to change billing options. Internet access is also required to access documents stored on OneDrive, unless you install the OneDrive desktop app.

You should also connect to the Internet regularly to keep your version of Office up to date and benefit from automatic upgrades. If you don't connect to the Internet at least every 31 days, your applications will go into reduced functionality mode, which means that you can view or print your documents but cannot edit the documents or create new ones. To reactivate your Office applications, reconnect to the Internet.

Yes. Documents that you have created belong fully to you. You can choose to store them online on OneDrive or locally on your PC or Mac.

If you cancel your subscription or it expires, you can still access and download all your files by signing in to OneDrive directly using the Microsoft account you used to set up Microsoft 365. You do lose the additional storage that comes with your subscription, so you must save your files elsewhere or buy more OneDrive storage if your OneDrive account exceeds the free storage quota.

If you purchase an auto-renew subscription, your subscription starts when you complete your purchase. You can purchase auto-renew subscriptions from Office365.com, MicrosoftStore.com, iTunes®, and some other retailers. If you purchase a pre-paid subscription, your subscription starts when you activate your subscription and land on your My Account page. You can purchase pre-paid subscriptions from a retailer or reseller, or a Microsoft support agent.

If you have an active Microsoft 365 Home subscription, you can share it with up to five members of your household (six total). Each household member you share your subscription with can use any of your available installs on their PCs, Macs, iPads, Android tablets, Windows tablets, iPhones® or Android phones, 2 get an additional 1 TB of OneDrive storage, and manage their own installs from the My Account page.

To add someone to your subscription, visit the My Account page and follow the onscreen instructions to add a user. Each person you add will receive an email with the steps they need to follow. Once they have accepted and completed the steps, their information, including the installs they are using, will appear on your My Account page. You can stop sharing your subscription with someone or remove a device they are using on the My Account page.

“The cloud” is a friendly way of describing web-based computing services that are hosted outside of your home or organization. When you use cloud-based services, your IT infrastructure resides off your property (off-premises) and is maintained by a third party (hosted), instead of residing on a server at your home or business (on-premises) that you maintain. With Microsoft 365, for example, information storage, computation, and software are located and managed remotely on servers owned by Microsoft. Many services you use every day are a part of the cloud—everything from web-based email to mobile banking and online photo storage. Because this infrastructure is located online or “in the cloud,” you can access it virtually anywhere, from a PC, tablet, smartphone, or other device with an Internet connection.
