How to download galleries from forum?

Some users post galleries. It takes a lot of time to click on picture and save it individually. The problem is that not all of users attach a zip file. I tried to open a link to specific comment in the other window to use Downthemall extension but I opened a bookmarked comment at the same page but not a individual comment with gallery. Of course RipMe will not help in this situation.

ok if the files are uploaded here on this site you can use internet download manager try it free or get a crack version in torrent piratebay you select all files in blue, right click and download with internet download manager.

if the files redirect you to imagebam.com or other image site this means they are hosted on an external site, use chrome browser and install the browser extension one click downloader its free. same process highlight in blue all images and click one click downloader. most image host site works sometimes it doesnt id say 90% of the time it saved me tons of work getting those comics.

By the way I found one more application which grab images from different hosts 1 Extension for Firefox <https://addons.mozilla.org/en-US/firefox/addon/host-grabber-pp/>

All of them work in the same way as Chrome extension one click downloader.

Zip download problem.

This happens when clicking on a thread then backing out of it before letting it fully load. For some reason you stay connected to it. The more threads you do this to, the worse it gets until no files will download. The only way to disconnect yourself from it is to close and restart the browser. I have gone to another site and opened a different browser and came to the forums. Clicked on a thread I had posts in and it shows me as signed in (online) still, even though I have never signed in using that browser. I was still connected somehow to the forums. Closing the original browser cleared the online status.

Coming to the forums after restarting the browser everything works as it is supposed to again. Having a slow internet connection, this is more pronounced for me and was easy to spot. This did start again (it has happened before) about a week or so ago. This is why I hate when people do full page image posts instead of thumbnail ones. I have to let the page load before I can move on or everything gets messed up.
