FIFA 21: Change Commentary Language | How to Change Language.

FIFA is considered one of the most popular games of the century. This is because ordinary people who are not gamers like to enjoy a bit of competitive play between friends.

So, it has a pretty enormous player-base. But does EA, FIFA's developers, worry about the needs of their players? For example, do they provide support commentary languages other than English?

Well, yes, and we will tell you exactly how to change the commentary language in FIFA.

How to Change Commentary Language in FIFA 21.

Weirdly, the developers have set up the game so that, based on which region you buy the game, you'll get support for particular languages.

There isn't a good list of languages available everywhere. If you are downloading the game from Portugal, you will get language support based on that region.

Nonetheless, this is how to change your commentary language in FIFA 21 easily:

Open up FIFA 21. When you reach the main menu, navigate to "Customize." Then click "Settings." Next, "Game Settings." Navigate the tabs until you reach "Audio." From General Audio, switch to "11-A-Side Audio." The first will be "Commentary Language," go right or left and choose the particular language you want.

The languages which will be available everywhere are:

look to be accurate. That's why you should use it only as a reference.

Why dont you make Arabic commentary standard in every region? I live in the UK and its rediculous the amount of Arab countries and people around the world that it is not standard on every version of FIFA. Please make this standard as im sure im not the only person who has been saying this for years. Please can you even make a downloadable language pack available. This need sto ne added on FIFA22 please. Thank you.
